BEATING EVIDENCE HEARD AT INQUIRY

Officials Seek Truth on Death Which Came Suddenly After Eight Hours of Grilling.

BY MORRIS WATSON.
NEW YORK, July 18.—(AP)—Eleven Long Island policemen were suspended tonight at the conclusion of an inquiry into the death of Hyman Stark, alleged victim of a brutal "third degree" killing.

The 11 suspended had been picked out of a lineup by three men arrested with Stark. They said the officers handcuffed them to chairs, beat them with rubber hoses, kicked them and dragged them about by the hair.

Supreme Court Justice Meier Steinberg, who presided over the inquiry, said he was not satisfied with the explanations given by the police. He would render a decision tomorrow morning.

The justice said he had two decisions to make. The first was whether a crime had been committed, and the second was whether the perpetrators had been identified.

The 11 men suspended included four who had been ordered held incommunicado as material witnesses earlier in the day. These four were paroled in custody of the police chief. Two others were suspended yesterday.

These were Deputy Chief Frank Tappen, who was in charge of the detectives last Friday, when Stark died, and Detective Joseph Hixson, son of the woman Stark and his companions were alleged to have beaten in a robbery.

An implication that Tappen might have been responsible for Stark's death was given tonight by Martin W. Littleton Jr., assistant district attorney. He testified that Tappen approached him at headquarters late Friday afternoon, mopped his brow and remarked:

"He's the toughest I've ever seen. I put one foot on his stomach and one on his throat and he didn't flinch and he didn't flinch."

Tappen, who weighs more than 200 pounds and who limped from a sprained ankle, denied emphatically he had had such a conversation with Littleton or that he ever had treated a prisoner in such a manner.

Isaac Stein, one of Stark's companions, was a blood-stained shirt into the courtroom tonight. In a hoarse voice he picked seven detectives out of a lineup of 21 as the questioners who had beaten him, and then said there were three others. Three more detectives, including Hixson, were brought in, and Stein said they were among his assailants.

Both Philip Caccato and Alex Drangel, the other suspects, had black eyes. They, too, picked detectives out of the lineup and accused them of brutality.

Those suspended tonight were Lieutenants:

JULES JUSSERAND TAKEN BY DEATH

JEAN-JULES JUSSERAND.

PARIS, July 18.—(AP)—Jean Jules Jusserand, for 22 years French ambassador at Washington, died today of a kidney ailment. He was 77 years old.

Mr. Jusserand was retired from his post at Washington in 1924.

A member of the household said that among his last words were these: "My fervent hope and conviction is that France and the United States will eternally remain united and friendly."

The aged diplomat died peacefully in his bed at his home in Paris. His wife had been ill for some time.

A funeral service is being planned in the church of St. Pierre de Chaillot.

"Up to the very last," Madame Jusserand said, "my husband thought and talked of the America which he loved so dearly."

"He wanted me to tell your people this: That he was deeply worried in recent times by the feeling in the United States against France."

"Despite his ill-health he had tried by radio speeches and otherwise to explain the two peoples to each other."

For 22 years Jean Jules Jusserand was ambassador to the United States, establishing a record for the longest continuous assignment in the history of the Washington diplomatic corps.

He was quiet and unassuming, but those close to him knew that under his administration the French embassy achieved his ambition to unite his country and the United States in bonds of firm friendship.

The American presidents from Roosevelt to Coolidge were his personal friends. His service began in the Roosevelt administration and he was the president's companion in many of Mr. Roosevelt's vigorous activities.

He was an important figure in the delicate negotiations involving transfer to the United States of the French rights in the Panama Canal.

DEATH OF AGED DIPLOMAT CAUSES SADNESS IN U. S.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—(AP)—Along with an official expression of sorrow over the death of Jules Jusserand, French ambassador to this country, his relations with the United States government have been recalled by the high officials of the French government.

Secretary Stimson said in part: "No man in recent times did more to bring the two peoples closer together than Jules Jusserand. His service began in the Roosevelt administration and he was the president's companion in many of Mr. Roosevelt's vigorous activities."

Mr. Stimson said that Jules Jusserand was a man of high character and fair dealing.

More Ninety-Degree Weather Forecast for Atlanta Today

The south, counting its dead at 33, Monday felt a slight measure of relief from its first heat wave of the summer season after a Sunday of cloudy skies and temperatures reaching last week, today's weather is to be much the same as that of Monday when the maximum temperature was reached at 2 p. m. with a reading of 92 degrees. Of the deaths reported in the south from the heat, Atlanta had one Sunday when George O. Mabry, mechanic of the Decatur Motor Company, stricken by the heat last Wednesday, died Sunday morning. Ruby Weaver, 3, of 456 McFay street, was treated at Grady hospital Sunday for heat prostration.

Atlanta's high temperature of 92 degrees Monday was three degrees lower than that of Saturday. According to Arthur H. Scott, local meteorologist, the temperature will range from a low of 74 or 75 degrees this morning to a maximum of 90 or 92 degrees in the afternoon. There is

U. S. AND CANADA SIGN AGREEMENT ON ST. LAWRENCE

Half Billion Waterway From Lakes to Atlantic Will Tap Grain Section of Both Countries.

BY JOSEPH H. BAIRD.
WASHINGTON, July 18.—(UP)—The United States and Canada agreed today to spend more than a half-billion dollars to bring the commerce of the world down the pathway of LaSalle to the back door of the American and Canadian great belt.

Meeting in the high-vaulted diplomatic room of the state department, Secretary Stimson and Canadian Minister W. D. Herridge signed the St. Lawrence treaty, goal of 10 years' diplomatic efforts. The projected waterway will connect the Atlantic with the Great Lakes.

The treaty now goes to the United States senate and the Canadian parliament for ratification. During the summer a subcommittee of the senate will investigate the project, and prepare to act on it next fall.

Outstanding points on the treaty were:

Navigation: A 27-foot channel from Montreal to the Great Lakes. More than 90 per cent of the world's ships can navigate it.

Power: Two dams—one at Crystal Island, the other at Barnhart Island—to provide about 1,100,000 horsepower of hydroelectric current to each country.

Cost: Estimated at $543,429,000, which the United States and Canada will share almost equally. Counting past work, the entire waterway will be worth about $800,000,000.

Benefits: Engineers estimate that the treaty will save 6 cents per bushel on the cost of grain moving from Great Lakes ports to Chicago. It will make seaports of Detroit, Milwaukee, Duluth, Duluth, Bay City, Toledo, Cleveland, Buffalo and many other lake cities.

Lake water diversion: The treaty specifies that diversion of water through the Chicago drainage canal shall conform with the quantity provided in the supreme court decree on April 22, 1930.

Counting past work, the entire waterway will be worth about $800,000,000.

ROOSEVELT SEEKS BAY STATE UNITY

Democratic Nominee
Confers With House and Other Party Leaders.

BY WALTER T. BROWN.
ALBANY, N. Y., July 18.—(P)—Home from a week's vacation at sea and a Massachusetts conference which may lead to an adjustment of democratic differences in the Bay state, Governor Roosevelt tonight had on his dinner guest, Bernard M. Baruch, wealthy New York financier, who delayed an European trip to visit the presidential nominee.

Mr. Roosevelt traveled by automobile from Rye Beach, N. H., stopping en route to confer with Colonel Edward M. House and Leopold M. Goussier, a pre-convention supporter of Governor Roosevelt. Goussier is a close adviser of Governor Ely, of Massachusetts, who was an outstanding leader in the "stop-Roosevelt" movement at the Chicago convention.

During the meeting with Goussier at Swampscott, it was stated by one of Roosevelt's advisers that an unsuccessful effort was made to reach Ely at his Winfield home in the hope Ely would greet the New York governor during his motor trip across Massachusetts.

Smith Faction's Support.

The Roosevelt forces are hopeful that out of today's luncheon conference at the Swampscott summer home of John A. Fahy, Worcester publisher and national chairman of the Victory Fund drive, the way will be opened for the Smith leaders to endorse the national ticket and swing their faction behind Roosevelt. So far Ely has withheld approval of the Roosevelt-Garnett ticket.

Ely is admittedly the key to the Massachusetts situation, which to a large extent influences the Smith element in other New England states embittered by the defeat of Mr. Smith.

It was understood the democratic nominee, when he visited House at Beverly Farms, on the coast, discussed plans for the campaign, and heard Mr. House's opinion on methods to employ in bringing about complete party harmony. House was war-time adviser to President Wilson.

Tomorrow, the national committee, and Louis M. Howe, political secretary to Mr. Roosevelt, will lay campaign plans before the nominee.

The conference is expected to come tentative outline of campaign financing and organization as well as a determination of where Mr. Roosevelt will speak and when.

Baruch Is Silent.

Baruch, who has been a heavy contributor to democratic campaign funds, was an overnight guest at the executive mansion. He will leave for Europe in a few days. Baruch was regarded as a pre-convention supporter of Smith, but soon after Mr. Roosevelt's nomination he endorsed the Roosevelt ticket.

After leading west from the Fahy home, Mr. Roosevelt stopped only once. That was at Miller's Falls for gasoline, where there soon assembled a crowd of villagers, waving and shouting.

Mr. Roosevelt followed a route through Lexington, Concord, Fitchburg, and North Adams, dropping in the Hudson river valley just at sunset. Mrs. Roosevelt greeted her husband here.

Only one of the three sons who went to sea last week with Roosevelt returned to Albany. He was John, the youngest, who leaves tomorrow for the Arizona ranch of Mrs. John C. Greenway, national committee chairman for that state, and an old friend of the Roosevelts. James, who returned with his father to Swampscott, after leading west from the Fahy home, Mr. Roosevelt stopped only once. That was at Miller's Falls for gasoline, where there soon assembled a crowd of villagers, waving and shouting.

BASED ON PROHIBITION ISSUE
CHICAGO, July 18.—(P)—A republican senatorial campaign in which common sense will be the major appeal and prohibition the principal issue was promised tonight by Senator L. J. Dickinson, of Iowa.

The keynote of the national republican convention revived here today to begin Tuesday, will be in electing senators from 12 central states. Senator Dickinson is chairman of the committee which will direct the senatorial campaign in Indiana, Ohio, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas, Kentucky and the Dakotas.

Prohibition will be the main issue in many states. Senator Dickinson said, predicting that the campaign will be an "argumentative one."

HOOVER IS CREDITED
WITH MAJOR LEGISLATION
WASHINGTON, July 18.—(P)—Answering democratic claims, Senator Watson, of Indiana, tonight gave to President Hoover the credit for originating the major legislation enacted by congress.

In a statement issued through the republican national committee, Watson, republican leader of the senate, asserted that the "record is so clear that to begin with, it is impossible to deprive of the credit that is his by any statements Senator Robinson or any other democrats may make."

Robinson, of Arkansas, his party's senate leader, yesterday criticized the administration's lack of leadership and said "much of the legislation which this nation now regards with hope and optimism sprang from democratic sources."

WORK RELIEF PLAN
URGES ADOPTION
Adoption of the work relief plan which is the dollar system in using funds from the federal system in using funds from congress was urged Monday by John N. Holder, candidate for governor.

In commenting on passage of the emergency relief bill, Holder said: "It is very gratifying to me to see that congress has passed the emergency relief bill and I am sure the proper authorities of our state will take full advantage of the opportunity offered for our citizens to participate in this great effort to relieve the distress existing throughout the nation."

"I believe our people will prefer the work relief plan rather than the dole, and in this connection I desire to express the hope that in whatever work is undertaken the authorities will adopt a minimum wage scale and a maximum hour day. This because, the idea being to relieve distress, there should be some benefit thrown around our working classes which will prevent their being innocent victims of competition among contractors and others who might take advantage of the situation which would enrich themselves."

"A work relief program started at the earliest moment would bring about untold joy to thousands of rural people who have the opportunity now that crops are laid by to offer their services and supplement the meager sum they will receive from a cheap crop."

HARDWICK GIVES PLAN TO WIPE OUT DEFICIT

Candidate for Governor Proposes Drastic Economies and Salary Cuts.

HARDWICK TO SPEAK
OVER RADIO TONIGHT
Thomas W. Hardwick, former governor and former United States senator, will speak over radio station WGST at 8:30 o'clock (central standard time) tonight in the interest of his candidacy for governor of Georgia.

HAMILTON, Ga., July 18.—A plan to wipe out Georgia's floating debt, which he estimated will be $500,000 at the end of 1932, was presented today in a political address by Thomas W. Hardwick, candidate for governor.

He proposed that every dollar raised by the taxing authority of the state be placed in the treasury, discharge of "every useless employee" and reduction of salaries of all those receiving as much as $2,000 per annum, except the judiciary, but every appropriation at least 20 and possibly 25 per cent and the highway department "slightly more."

"This will be a reduction in the expenditures of the state government," Hardwick said, "figured on the basis of its present revenues, including the state income tax of $7,000,000 to $8,000,000 per year."

"We could then take this saving this made each year and do two things: first, we could pay off the floating debt; second, we could take the other half of the savings affected, and use it to pay off the $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 per year and reduce the ad valorem tax of the people of Georgia at least 50 and possibly 75 per cent."

"Although the appropriations are already made for the year 1933, prompt action by the general assembly to reduce the appropriations for 1933 to carry into effect this reduction in property taxes and make it effective for that year."

"Similar economies and reductions in every city and county in the state ought to be made so as to effect sharp reductions in every one of these items."

Hardwick said his plan of paying the floating debt should be sufficient to pay it up in three years or less.

"When the legislature has worked out such a plan so as to make the savings that I have suggested reasonably certain," Hardwick continued, "it could then authorize the treasurer to issue conditional warrants for payment of these past due obligations, one-third each year, and it would be an easy matter to then induce some one of our great banks to assemble these warrants and get them discounted at a trifling interest charge by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which has done just such a thing within the last few months for the state of South Carolina at the instance of Senator Smith, of that state."

Hardwick said that the expenses of the state government had increased 357 per cent since he left the governor's chair after one term in 1923 and that the state was now spending $425,000 and "stubbornly opposed" its reduction by the budget commission to $265,000 and continued to fight its being sliced to $300,000.

Fails Talmadge.

"Yet we find this same commissioner of agriculture," Hardwick said, "with the brazen effrontery, claiming credit in his speeches at Muskie Shoals for the reduction and retrenchment that he opposed and proclaiming himself for governor on an economy program."

He went on to say that the expenses of the state government had increased 357 per cent since he left the governor's chair after one term in 1923 and that the state was now spending $425,000 and "stubbornly opposed" its reduction by the budget commission to $265,000 and continued to fight its being sliced to $300,000.

WILEY MOORE QUILTS STATE SENATE RACE

Pressure of Business Leaves
No Time for Campaign, Says Retiring Candidate.

Wiley L. Moore, former councilman from the seventh ward and president of the Wofford Oil Company of Georgia, Monday formally withdrew from the race for the senate from the 35th Georgia district because of pressure of additional business with the Pure Oil Company.

He has long been identified with political and civic activities of Atlanta and the state. Confronted with opposition, Moore said Monday he feels that he cannot spare the time for a campaign.

Text of his statement of withdrawal follows:

"Editor Constitution: I entered the contest for the state senate from this district upon the assumption that I would have time to devote to the responsibilities of the position."

"I find now that this will be impossible if I am to give attention to the duties of the company of which I am president—the Wofford Oil Company. In addition to this I represent the Pure Oil Company in the southeast."

"So, with the constantly increasing business of these companies, which are acting practically all of my time, and keeping me away from Atlanta much of the time, I cannot neglect my own business nor that entrusted to me by Mr. Henry M. Dawes, of Chicago, president of the Pure Oil Company."

"I am, however, frank to say that it would have been an honor to serve this district in the general assembly."

"As between my business and politics, however, there can be no choice, so I am asking that you announce my withdrawal in the contest for the senate in this district."

Mr. Moore has long been identified with the legislation of the affairs of the state, having retired from county as chairman of its finance committee. During the past year his business has been such as to require his presence in the territory under his control.

member 31, 1931. To this amount must be added a shortage in property tax collections for the year 1932, which the tax commission is now estimating at from $2,000,000 to $2,500,000. I think the latter figure is more likely to be correct, and hence adopt it for the purpose of this calculation. This gives us a total of $13,042,771.77, up to December 31, 1932, from which it is to be subtracted the sum of $3,500,000 raised by the general assembly last year from a still further long-extended and exceedingly expensive discount of rentals of the Western & Atlantic railroad. When this subtraction is made the exact figure of the floating debt on January 1, 1933, will be $9,542,771.77.

He closed with the statement that he appealed to all people for their vote and made no appeal for selfish interest, but for the common good.

Hardwick will speak over WGST, Atlanta radio station, from 8:30 to 9 o'clock (central time) Tuesday night.

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

Its "Bulk" and Vitamin B Help Relieve Constipation; Also Has Blood-building Iron

New laboratory experiments demonstrate that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has sufficient "bulk" to exercise the intestines, as well as Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract.

In addition, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Now you can overcome common constipation by pleasantly "exercising" and banish the headaches, backaches, loss of appetite and energy that so frequently result.

No need to worry along with pills and drugs, which often lead to harmful habits.

Instead, just eat two tablespoons daily of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—adequate for most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor. The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently cleans the intestines of wastes.

Special processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming. Equally tasty as a cereal, or used in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

member 31, 1931. To this amount must be added a shortage in property tax collections for the year 1932, which the tax commission is now estimating at from $2,000,000 to $2,500,000. I think the latter figure is more likely to be correct, and hence adopt it for the purpose of this calculation. This gives us a total of $13,042,771.77, up to December 31, 1932, from which it is to be subtracted the sum of $3,500,000 raised by the general assembly last year from a still further long-extended and exceedingly expensive discount of rentals of the Western & Atlantic railroad. When this subtraction is made the exact figure of the floating debt on January 1, 1933, will be $9,542,771.77.

NEW FACTS ON
KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

Its "Bulk" and Vitamin B Help Relieve Constipation; Also Has Blood-building Iron

New laboratory experiments demonstrate that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has sufficient "bulk" to exercise the intestines, as well as Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract.

In addition, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Now you can overcome common constipation by pleasantly "exercising" and banish the headaches, backaches, loss of appetite and energy that so frequently result.

No need to worry along with pills and drugs, which often lead to harmful habits.

Instead, just eat two tablespoons daily of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—adequate for most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor. The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently cleans the intestines of wastes.

Special processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming. Equally tasty as a cereal, or used in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

STATESBORO, Ga., July 18.—(P) John L. Kelley, candidate for governor, speaking here today, said that he advocated equal school opportunities for all children, including a nine-month school term and books at the cost of printing.

He said he favored relief of real estate from taxes for state purposes; for limitation of taxes by counties and municipalities; for $300 exemption of household and kitchen furniture; and for exemption from all taxes of wearing apparel, tools of trade and for professional instruments.

Kelley said he advocated the reduction of the state income tax.

Senators To Lay Plans Today For Farm Board Investigation

WASHINGTON, July 18.—(AP)—Plans for a thorough investigation of the farm board—long a target of congressional criticism—will be laid tomorrow by the senate agriculture subcommittee.

Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, author of the resolution directing the inquiry, said today he could not serve on the committee. Chairman McNary, republican, Oregon, indicated Norris' action would not alter the plans of the group.

The investigation also will include commodity exchanges, grain, cotton and others. Chairman Stone of the board has repeatedly said the board welcomes an inquiry of its activities, but insisted that private traders be compelled to answer, also.

McNary expects to be able to outline the course of the investigation at tomorrow's session and when it will actually start.

Among the phases the committee hopes to study are the relationship between commodity exchanges and the board; interstate and foreign marketing; earnings, bonuses, salaries and commissions paid by private and cooperative organizations investigated; stabilization corporations or subsidiary corporations organized by the board; whether board activities in buying and selling grain and cotton and other products was necessary and carried on in accordance with the intent of the agricultural marketing act, and what activities, if any, of exchanges.

DRIVE IS LAUNCHED TO PROTECT ROADS

Officials Spurred by Halting of Overloaded Truck in DeKalb.

Arrest of the driver of a "two and one-half ton capacity" truck, owned by a North Carolina Freight Transit Company, carrying a load of more than 15 tons—according to public service commission inspectors, exactly 30,960 pounds—Sunday in DeKalb county spurred officials of the commission and of the state highway board to a campaign to protect the state's $150,000,000 worth of roads from the increasing destruction by heavy traffic.

Maintenance officials of the highway board Monday expressed the opinion that the heavy loads now going over the highways, escaping the penalty of laws through technicalities, will cut two-thirds of the normal life of the pavement. In some cases, like the road from Macon to Atlanta, the opinion was ventured that the normal life of the road would be cut from 20 to 5 years unless drastic action was taken.

Survey Is Launched.

At the instance of Commissioner J. P. Wilhoit, it became known Monday, the highway board some weeks ago adopted a resolution calling upon the department engineer to ascertain what roads do not justify a heavy type of pavement at this time and the maximum gross weight of vehicles "which should be allowed to travel over the roads so designated."

Commissioner Wilhoit is of the opinion that the board can arbitrarily fix the maximum weight which shall pass over any of the roads.

Officials of the public service commission said that the maximum load permitted under the motor carrier act of 1931 is 18,500 pounds.

Rigid enforcement of the laws now on the statute books was urged in a statement Monday.

Enforcement Urged.

"It is," Felton said, "the solemn duty of every civic club, every trial judge, every law enforcement officer in the state to study carefully and enforce rigidly the motor carrier law and rules. Their duty is as much to save human lives and the happiness of families and prevent accidents and heartbreaks as it is to incarcerate and prosecute murderers and kidnappers—if they can apprehend them, law violators can be caught on the open public highways of the state at night as well as in the day. And we cannot soothe our consciences by saying that the laws and rules were impossible of enforcement."

"Many people," Felton added, "are hauling over the highways for hire who have not qualified under the law and who are violating the law and rules in many particulars. We look up the drunkard who is armed with a weapon likely to produce death. Should we be less diligent as to persons armed with dangerous trucks or automobiles over which they have little control by reason of excess load, poor brakes, lights or too high speed?"

Engineers' Conclusions.

Maintenance engineers of the highway department gave the opinion Monday that the maximum load should be between 16,000 and 18,000 pounds over any highway. Conclusions reached by the engineering department after a partial survey are:

"We are positive that a great number of our highways will have to be reconstructed in their entirety in a short time unless something is done to prohibit the over-loading of the highways at present."

"The life of the best concrete highways constructed under present-day specifications is from 15 to 20 years, provided the weights transported over these highways conform to the present motor vehicle law."

The Bates experimental road showed that when an over-loading occurred beyond the allowable safe loads that the pavements deteriorate rapidly, varying greatly depending on the type of construction and thickness.

Owner Denies Charge.

R. H. Neill, manager of the Atlanta office of the Goggin Truck Lines, owner of the truck which commission officials said carried the 30,960-pound load, denied Monday that the truck was violating the law in DeKalb county. Drivers of the truck were released under bonds of $200.

Neill admitted that the truck prior to entering DeKalb had such a load on a trailer attached to the truck, but claimed that the trailer was left at Clarksville. Public service commission officials said that the trailer had become unattached from the truck near Clarksville.

"This is not the first time drivers of overloaded trucks have been arrested," James A. Perry, commission chairman, said. "It is seldom that one machine carries such a heavy load and great damage is being done by such overloading."

ROSA WOODBERRY TAKEN BY DEATH

Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs and the Atlanta City Federation of Clubs. She was secretary of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Protestant Episcopal church, diocese of Atlanta. Her interest in church work led her to take a conspicuous part in the affairs of All Saints church, in which she taught a Bible class for many years. She was also president of the Christian Council of Churchwomen, which organization she helped to found. She was active in the United Daughters of the Confederacy and was a prominent member of the Atlanta Woman's Club.

Miss Woodberry was widely known to the many girls who had attended her school and was a favorite teacher. She was always interested in any worthy charitable project and gave her time and energy without stint.

Funeral services will be held in Atlanta for Miss Woodberry, with arrangements to be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son. The body will be taken to Savannah, her former home, for interment in the Woodberry family.

Surviving are five sisters, Miss Frances Woodberry, Mrs. Howard C. Johnston and Mrs. Julian deBryun Kops, of Atlanta; Mrs. Harry Newell Walker, of Savannah; and Mrs. Lillian Woodberry Johnson, of Kansas City, Mo.; two brothers, E. M. Woodberry, of Savannah, and Herbert H. Woodberry, of Atlanta; and the following nieces and nephews of Atlanta: Miss Jane deBryun Kops, Julian deBryun Kops, Gilman Woodberry and Reginald Fleet, all well-known Atlantans.

TALMADGE DEFENDS TARIFF LAW POLICIES

Seven Hundred Hear Gubernatorial Candidate at Fort Valley.

FORT VALLEY, Ga., July 18.—All roads led to Fort Valley today as approximately 700 people gathered here to hear Eugene Talmadge, gubernatorial candidate for governor, speak this afternoon.

Due to the size of the crowd, which assembled here from Crawford, Macon, Houston and other counties it was necessary to change plans for holding the meeting in the Peach county courthouse which was jammed an hour before Mr. Talmadge was scheduled to speak. Mr. Talmadge stood on the steps of the Hotel Winona to deliver his address and the crowd stood and sat in a high semi-circle before him. City officials diverted traffic from in front of the hotel, and the street then was jammed with humanity.

Norman English, city attorney, introduced the speaker as "a worker and a doer, fearless and human." "We need someone in the governor's chair," he said, "who will do things and keep on doing things. We have had enough of talk and halloo. We need something besides hot air and promises."

Stating that one of the motives behind the attempt to impeach him last year sprang from his writing in the Market Bulletin on the tariff laws, Mr. Talmadge said:

"The prosperity of this country is wrapped up in the tariff laws. The prices of manufactured articles, such as hardware and automobiles, is fixed in this country, but the prices of raw materials are fixed in the orient, where 20 cents a pound of iron ore and people live in grass houses and go half naked."

Members of the various bar associations will act as honorary escorts at his funeral, which will be held Wednesday afternoon in Quitman. Arrangements are under the direction of H. M. Patterson & Son.

Surviving are two brothers, S. S. and J. B. Rountree, of Quitman; two sisters, Mrs. W. Hunter and Mrs. E. T. Dukes, of Quitman; and the several nieces and nephews.

U. S., CANADA SIGN WATERWAY PACT

of agriculture and industry throughout the midwest. The large by-product of power will benefit the north. These benefits are mutual with the great dominion to the north. . . . The project is of first importance to the whole continent. The many and extremely complex engineering, legal, commercial and international problems have been worked out by the representatives of both countries in a spirit of co-operation of which all North America can be justly proud."

Signature of the treaty today brought to an end a dream which inspired American and Canadian statesmen as early as 1900. Several commissions and boards of engineers made reports on it in 1909, one in 1921 and another in 1928. The latter provided the technical data, with slight alterations, for the present treaty.

Ten Articles.

The treaty consists of ten articles and a technical appendix. It can be described as follows:

Article 1—Canada will construct and maintain the works in the Thousand Islands section of the St. Lawrence below Oak Point and a side canal, with lock opposite Crater island, about seven miles east of Waddington, N. Y.

Article 2—The United States will construct and maintain the works in the Thousand Islands section above Oak Point and a side canal, with lock opposite Barnhart island, about four miles northeast of Massena, N. Y.

Article 3—A temporary St. Lawrence international rapids section commission is set up, including five Americans, five Canadians, to construct the works in the international section. Works on American territory will be built with American materials, American labor. Canada has the same privilege regarding works on its territory. Nearly two-thirds of the works are in American territory.

Article 4—Hydroelectric power will be divided evenly. The United States will make its own agreement with New York state about power.

Article 5—Construction of works by either party shall not confer on either proprietary rights or jurisdiction over the territory of the other.

Article 6—Either country may in the future construct alternative canals and channels for navigation in the international section of the St. Lawrence or in the Great Lakes.

Article 7—The rights of navigation accorded under existing treaties shall be maintained, notwithstanding provisions for termination contained in such treaties.

Article 8—The supreme court decree of 1930 will determine the amount of Great Lakes water diversion. In an emergency the United States may increase diversion if Canada objects the matter will be arbitrated.

Article 9—Both countries are released from payment of damages suffered by the other as a result of work on the river.

Article 10—The agreement shall be properly ratified.

The project agreed on today will be one of the greatest engineering accomplishments of all time. It will cost more than $100,000,000. The canal and nearly eight times as much as the giant Nile irrigation development. While exceeded in cost by Boulder Dam, its effects probably will be more widespread.

Engineers estimate that nearly a decade will be required for the work. Thousands of men will be employed on it. But because of the prospective delay in ratification, actual work may start too late to aid materially in the present shortage of jobs.

ROOSEVELT IS SILENT ON SIGNING OF TREATY

ALBANY, N. Y., July 18.—(UP)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, who unsuccessfully sought a White House conference with President Hoover on development of the St. Lawrence river, was silent tonight when informed that the United States and Canada had signed a treaty regarding the project.

Told of the signing as his automobile moved along the highways of Massachusetts for gasoline as he returned from a six-day ocean cruise, Roosevelt said:

"Nothing to say."

CAPONE MAY ACQUIRE GUTHRIE RANCH IN OKLAHOMA

GUTHRIE, Okla., July 18.—(AP)—The Guthrie Daily Leader says in a story signed by its editor, Raymond Fields, that the famous 101 Ranch, near Ponca City, is about to be sold to Al Capone, imprisoned gang lord; his brother, Ralph, and allied interests.

Colonel Zack Miller, last survivor of the 101 founders, will go to St. Louis and Atlanta with E. E. Beach and Horace J. Smith, of Pawhuska, the Leader says, to arrange details of the transaction.

Louis (Diamond Jack) Alterie, Chicago gangster, who turned dude rancher in Colorado, was named as representing the Capones and was said to have conferred with the receiver for the ranch.

"The Capone boys are quitting the racket and are going to retire to a life of quietude," the Leader said. "The final purchase is made," Smith was quoted as saying.

"They will bring to the 17,000 acres a large group of Italian farmers who will divide the holdings into tracts of 40 and 80 acres and carry on intensive farming."

The 101 Ranch Show will be sent back on the road as a Capone attraction and it is hoped Colonel Miller will accept a place with the show.

Smith, a bond and real estate dealer, is chairman of the Oklahoma World Fair display at Chicago.

"There is nothing definite about such a deal," Colonel Miller's secretary said.

BROTHER OF "SCARFACE AL" QUESTIONED IN SLAYING

CHICAGO, July 18.—(AP)—John Capone, brother of "Scarface Al" and his bodyguard, Al Rocco, were questioned here today for questioning in connection with the recent machine gun slaying of George "Red" Barker, labor racketeer.

The pair fled from Capone's automobile at the approach of detectives, but were overtaken and hustled to police headquarters.

Capone denied complicity in the Barker killing and said he knew the victim "only slightly."

The Capone liquor syndicate, he asserted, no longer exists. As for himself, Capone said he was in a "legitimate" business but refused to reveal its nature.

The youth paid $4,300 on his person when arrested. He and Senna were ordered held for "showup," at which time witnesses to the Barker killing will view him.

ATLANTA, GA., JULY 19, 1932.

PUNISHING THE PAVEMENTS.

The apprehension of a two and a half-ton truck from North Carolina lumbering over the roads of Georgia with a 15-ton load—30,000 pounds—calls attention to what is happening, day in and day out, on practically every through highway in the state.

These huge juggernauts are not only a constant menace to drivers of other vehicles, for which the roads are primarily intended, but they are rapidly crushing and crumbling both surface and foundation of pavements constructed to stand up under less than half their weight.

Especially on such important highway links as the road between Atlanta and Macon huge mechanical monsters are to be seen at all hours of the day and night hauling trailers containing many tons of freight. Under their crushing weight fine highways are rapidly deteriorating—pavements which with proper limitation of the vehicles traveling over them would last indefinitely.

According to the engineers of the highway department, these pavements will have to be replaced within five years if the destroying treatment they are now receiving is continued.

Not only are the roads being pulverized, but bridges costing many thousands of dollars are constantly giving way under the pressure of loads many times heavier than those for which they were designed.

In addition to the physical destruction of improvements paid for with the money of the taxpayers, these huge, unwieldy and oftentimes overloaded trucks are constantly adding to the peril of the roads. Especially has the hazard of night driving been increased. With the width of the roads permitting only a few feet in which to pass these great, lumbering motors, with their swerving trailers, passenger cars and smaller trucks are frequently forced off the pavement in order to avoid collisions.

The highways should not be barred to motorized transportation of freight, but certainly the reasonable restrictions of the state law in regard to the size and weight of trucks should be rigidly enforced.

That they are not is clearly apparent to any familiar with conditions at this time on the roads of Georgia, as illustrated by the detection of such a dreadnought as the one apprehended in DeKalb county.

Georgia should have a state constabulary charged with the protection of its highways, but lacking such a police force local officers of the law should be constantly on the lookout for trucks of illegal weight.

If this is not done, our highway system will begin to go to pieces before it is finished.

Maybe we taxpayers could manage to get on our feet again if the government would take its foot off our necks.

THE HARVEST OF SORROW.

The tragic death of a lovely young Atlanta woman in a fatal automobile-truck crash in South Carolina emphasizes the growing peril of the highways from the increased speed of all types of automobiles and the large number of commercial carriers of all kinds now using the roads.

Unless the greatest care is exercised not only in the driving of one's own car but in being on the constant lookout for recklessness on the part of others, there is constant danger of an accident which will bring a harvest of pain and sorrow.

Even to those who drive sanely and safely there is the constant peril of being struck by speeding machines or huge trucks with trailers, in many instances swaying from one side of the road to the other. At night the peril is all the greater, when improperly lighted cars frequently add to the danger of collisions, this being the case in the accident which resulted in the deaths of the young Atlanta woman and another young Virginia woman and the serious injury of the third member of the party.

The increased speed of automobiles has brought greater ease of driving and shortened the time of long trips, but it has also brought a threat to life and limb which is constantly borne in mind by certain, sooner or later, to bring disaster.

Too tragic a toll is being taken by the highways—a toll worse than the dread penalty of war—but not until the increase in precaution overtake the growth during recent years in power and size of motor vehicles will there be any improvement.

Maybe the republicans will be able to make personal use next year of their expert knowledge acquired during this administration concerning unemployment.

THE GERMAN RIOTS.

The week-end political riots in Germany, resulting in the death of 15 and the injury of hundreds more, are unusual only because of the large number of fatalities.

For the past several months these street riots have become so increasingly frequent and violent that they are now practically a daily occurrence throughout the country.

In the latest clash at Altona, a city of about half the size of Atlanta, Hitlerites and communists to a total of some 6,000 waged a combat which sent 12 to the morgue and 50 to the hospital before the police were able to clear the streets.

In six other cities political hatreds, made more bitter by the extremity of the German economic situation, resulted in clashes which also claimed a heavy toll in fatalities and casualties.

Commentators are practically a unit in ascribing the increase in violence in Germany to the growth of the communist party. Bitterly antagonistic to the rigid discipline and nationalistic ideals of Hitler's "nazis," it was inevitable that widespread disorders would follow.

The outbreaks are far more serious in their possibilities than mere political clashes. Indeed so threatening have they become to the other nations of the world that the Baltimore Sun feels that "these pitched battles taking place in the capital and great cities should impress upon German and foreign statesmen as nothing else the precarious, explosive condition of that nation. It is as if the history of central Europe hung daily upon the outcome of every police intervention."

In view of the strict control exercised over the well organized "nazis" it is not at all improbable that Hitler instead of discouraging is actually encouraging these outbreaks for their political effect.

As long as disorder and discontent continue throughout the country the opportunity of the fascists to gain control of the government grows better. It is probable, therefore, that the frequent engagement of Hitler's "shock troops" with the communists is a definite part of the "nazi" campaign for the forthcoming elections in which they hope to secure control of the reich.

Looking on The Kremlin.

They gave me a room on the seventh floor at the hotel where I stayed in Moscow. It was a splendid clean room with hot and cold water, and I felt mighty pleased with the situation. But then I looked out of the window and my breath stopped. Such a spectacle I had never witnessed before. There across the river stood the Kremlin, with the myriad of towers, minarets, domes and cupolas, palaces, temples and cathedrals.

The sun caught the czarist emblem on the main tower, a golden double-headed eagle, topped by a jeweled crown and crossed by a battle-axe. Its monstrous claws down toward the earth. A spectacle never to forget. A spectacle worth coming to see. I forgot to go to bed and gazing until I forgot to go down for lunch. All the past looked up to me. The Kremlin stood into me. In my mind I saw the whole imperial orgy from Rurik to Ivan and Peter and Sofia. The revolt of the Stralitz, the torrents of blood that flowed there. Barbaric and amazing are the Kremlin's colors. They fascinate you and hold you spellbound.

Imagine a group of a dozen cathedrals, each with a dozen towers interspersed with lone towers ending in byzantine domes or minarets superimposed on pagoda-like structures. It is a sight to see. I am surrounded by a huge red wall, with battlements and 42 individual towers on that wall. Above it all fluttering in the breeze the red flag of the workers of Russia.

Eager To Learn.

Never did I meet a people so universally interested in foreign countries, their habits, customs and conditions as these Russians. There is no end to the questions they will ask you about America, France, Germany and other lands. They are all so eager to learn, they are so curious, they are so interested in the names of European cabinet ministers, of American senators, their policies and the progress of their parties, that most as well as we do ourselves. I mean the ordinary man in the street knows about such things.

I showed me photos of his relatives. His mother had discarded the veil and so had his sisters. His mother had begun to learn reading and writing. I sat all night with that fellow and his relatives. They had joined in the conversation. That's the way in Russia.

Lord, how tired I was in the morning of answering all those questions about America. And yet it was a pleasant journey which will remain long in my memory. (Copyright, 1932, for The Constitution.)

Georgia Heroes Of the World War

By Sergeant L. E. Jauchel (All Rights Reserved.)

H. L. HAMM, chief boatswain's mate, United States navy. Awarded the navy cross for exceptionally meritorious service in the world war. He is a position of great responsibility, as commanding officer of the armed guard of the steamship Navajo.

The Navajo, a submarine, was launched in 1915. It was a submarine which lasted thirty-five minutes. The Navajo fired twenty-seven shots. The twenty-seven shots were seen to hit the submarine just forward of the forward gun, and a burst of flame and a cloud of dark gray smoke shot out of the hatch.

Almost immediately the submarine sank, bow first, the stem lifting high out of the water so that the propellers could be seen. This was verified as a positive destruction, for which Boatswain's Mate Hamm is given credit, due to his great ability as a marksman and his coolness.

NO HARM FROM RUST.

Put the name of rust in the dictionary for "No Such Thing." I hope you are serious about writing the book. If you do it in your usual style it will make a most readable and instructive book. Be sure to explain in words of one syllable why rust is not a cause of harm.

It seems to me that rust is becoming obsolete as an imagined factor of harm. I am sure the idea of rust on iron or steel is as old as day as it did ten or fifteen years ago in the letters people write me. It is my impression that even local news today are insistent on the point that they were a few years ago.

Anyway rust is never a factor of injury or illness. Rust is iron oxide, and that is naturally present in many foods and is sometimes administered as a medicine. It can do no possible harm to the human system. That has been contaminated with rust.

A puncture, scratch or wound that does not or bleed much at all is always more dangerous than one that does bleed, for the bleeding washes the wound or implements it with air carried into the flesh and planted there. At least the bleeding tends to cleanse the wound. It makes no difference whether the implement causing the wound was bright and new or old and rusty. Nor does the presence of veridigm make any difference, nor paint, nor varnish, nor lacquer, nor banana oil.

The germs of septicemia (acute blood poisoning) are of course quite inviolate and must be present in a virulent form on the cleanest, brightest looking surface. The bacillus of tetanus (lockjaw) is likewise inviolate and must be present on the present upon the brightest, newest nail or other implement.

Ordinary blood poisoning (septicemia) is best treated with penicillin, with any, whether trifling scratch or large cut or tear, whether the wound is made by a clean looking or a dirty looking implement. It is the bleeding as described and immediate first aid swabbing of the wound with common tincture of iodine. Following this first aid disinfection, the wound should be covered to protect it from subsequent contamination.

Lockjaw (tetanus) is best prevented by the same first aid treatment and an immediate injection of a prophylactic dose of anti-tetanus serum. The tetanus bacillus is a natural inhabitant of the intestinal tract of domestic and wild animals, and its spores survive in droppings for many days at least. Therefore any little wound sustained while working, playing about barn or barnyard, recently fertilized garden, or in the street where horses run, should be carefully treated. Likewise any burn or wound by fireworks, toy pistol, or gunshot.

Editor Constitution: For more than 60 years The Constitution has been a great newspaper, a great asset to our southland. This fact was never more forcibly impressed on my mind than it was when reading Sunday's issue in which there were two articles that demonstrated real greatness.

The first referred to the question of prohibition which you frankly oppose, but you were fair enough to print resolutions adopted by the Griffin Methodist District Conference, on this important subject. The resolutions were not radical but expressed in forceful language the feelings of tens of thousands of your readers. So seldom do we find such strong articles on the subject published in the daily press that this club will have the privilege of same, giving credit to the Constitution, and will furnish them free to all who may make request for them throughout the country.

The second article was on a subject which The Constitution has stood squarely for, throughout the years, namely, prison reform. Strangely enough, the dispatches you published today came from the same city of Griffin, which community is not excelled in Georgia, which means that there is no finer citizenship on earth. In reporting the action of a coroner's jury and the subsequent action of a grand jury regarding the killing of a prisoner by convict boss in that county, The Constitution has performed a real service to our state and to humanity.

Recently four prisoners in Georgia camps have been due to death by convict bosses. Several were short-sighted, some only in the eyes, for months, and the cause of the killings for the most part "because of an effort to escape."

Georgia has suffered disgrace enough along these lines. Witnesses to the murder of convicts are usually too terrified to appear against the killing. When we usually get by with such claim that "the convict was advancing on them" when it is a well-known fact that these cowardly brutes were being guarded by armed men, we are, in fact, ashamed to be so.

When Governor Hardwick was appointed by a committee of Atlanta citizens, which Charles N. Walker was chairman and Marion M. Jackson, that brilliant attorney and churchman, the members which filed a brief urging the abolition of convict labor, the members promptly gave orders abolishing the lash. Since then, the members of the Georgia State Prison have been treated as human beings, and the cause of the killings for the most part "because of an effort to escape."

When we usually get by with such claim that "the convict was advancing on them" when it is a well-known fact that these cowardly brutes were being guarded by armed men, we are, in fact, ashamed to be so.

When Governor Hardwick was appointed by a committee of Atlanta citizens, which Charles N. Walker was chairman and Marion M. Jackson, that brilliant attorney and churchman, the members which filed a brief urging the abolition of convict labor, the members promptly gave orders abolishing the lash. Since then, the members of the Georgia State Prison have been treated as human beings, and the cause of the killings for the most part "because of an effort to escape."

Georgia has suffered disgrace enough along these lines. Witnesses to the murder of convicts are usually too terrified to appear against the killing. Appalachian Company
Seeks To Prevent Federal Ban on River Project.

NORFOLK, Va., July 18.—(AP)—Argument in the Appalachian Electric Power Company's attempt to prevent the federal power commission from interfering with the construction of a hydro-electric plant on New river, in southwest Virginia, was started in the federal district court here today.

The importance of the case, which is regarded as having a far-reaching effect on the question of state water power control, and the presence of former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, among the power company counsel, attracted more than 200 lawyers to the courtroom.

Counsel for the commission took up the day in argument for the commission's motion to dismiss a suit brought by the power company to prevent federal interference with the project. The principal argument was presented by Eustace Thompson, of Colorado, former chairman of the federal trade commission, now a special assistant to the attorney-general of the United States.

R. Gray Williams, of Winchester, Va., appeared before the court asking permission, on behalf of the attorney-general, to appear in the project, which calls for an expenditure of approximately $10,000,000. Action on the request was postponed until tomorrow. Mr. Williams indicated that the state's stand would be hostile to the federal commission, because the case involved "a question of state's rights of far-reaching interest."

ATLANTA BUILDING IN JUNE EXCEEDS JUNE, 1931, TOTAL

NEW YORK, July 18.—Reports of building permits from 556 cities and towns in the United States show a total for June, 1932, of $38,151,019, according to the National Monthly Building Survey, issued by S. W. Straus & Co. This is a 12 per cent decline from May, 1932, and a 67 per cent decline below June, 1931.

Scranton, Pa.; Austin, Texas; Lynchburg, Va.; Jackson, Mich., and Pittsfield, Mass., are the only cities which registered advances over June, 1931.

The 25 leading cities as a group showed an increase of 16.8 per cent over May, 1932, and a decline of 62 per cent from June, 1931. Atlanta, with $421,000, was in sixteenth place. This figure represented the value of June permits, compared with $228,825 last June.

"Suicide's" Wild Bullet Kills Mother-in-Law

PHILADELPHIA, July 18.—(AP)—Clarence J. Howell's alleged attempt to commit suicide cost, instead, the life of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Ellen E. Reeves, 65, of Williams-town, N. J., and resulted in his arrest on a charge of murder on which he will have a hearing today.

According to his wife, Howell tried yesterday to end his life with a pistol, but she and a negro chauffeur interfered and in the ensuing struggle the weapon was discharged. The bullet, Mrs. Howell told the police, punctured the door of Mrs. Reeves' bedroom, went through the latter's head and shattered a mirror before which she has been seated. Her death was not discovered until Howell had been quieted.

The principal argument was presented by Eustace Thompson, of Colorado, former chairman of the federal trade commission, now a special assistant to the attorney-general of the United States.

R. ## INFURIATED COW, UNAWED BY COPS, SUBDUED BY DOG

"Bossy" spirit of rebellion flared Monday afternoon when she tasted the air of freedom after a dash from the stockyards, and it almost took all of the king's horses and all of the king's men to subdue the black and angry lady.

The Peters Park section was kept in a stir of excitement for more than an hour while efforts to corner the cow met with charges from the irritated animal. Police and spectators dashed nimbly out of the way on several occasions, and once the cow met an automobile head-on and lifted the front of the machine, to the great surprise of the driver.

At long last, it took a comparatively tiny police dog to round up "Bossy." Within a few minutes after the dog from the stockyards started in, "Bossy" realized that he meant business, and she finally submitted tamely to her embarkation on a truck.

BABE RUTH INJURES LEG: OUT THREE WEEKS

There is an old Irish ballad from the county of Mayo which says, "Bundle and Go," and I think it must be the tune that some piper plays into the ears of the Striblings.

The critics may say that there is too much family but the Striblings know what they want. And that is each other. And so yesterday came a cable from W. L. and Pa to "Ma" Stribling and to Mrs. W. L. It was to pack up the kids and come on over to Australia. Halfway around the world—just like that. Bundle and Go.

They were little more than kids, with a couple of their own, were Pa and Ma Stribling, when they sailed to China and played in the big cities there. And they were then in the South Seas and the Islands there. And South America knew them. And later there was W. L. fighting in London and Paris.

And now in Australia—Bundle and Go. Things are good over there. It seems to be the only place where the fight game is booming. It is quite probable that the Striblings will be gone for a year or so. They may even live in Australia for a long, long while.

Pa's wife had no details in it, said Ma. It was simply to come on to Australia with Clara (Mrs. W. L.) and the kids. And they are going.

The Striblings were much too good for the ring. That was one thing that was wrong. Their great dream ended in a welter of blood more than a year ago at Cleveland, Ohio, when Max Schmeling won from W. L. But they were all Spartans that night.

Ma Stribling sat there at the ringside, seeing her son before her battered and bruised. And so did the wife of her son. The crowd was staring at them but they were proud and cold. And they still were when they came into the dressing room that night and saw the boy with his bruised and battered face. There were tears in the eyes of strong men that night but not in the eyes of the Striblings. They were true to the code of the game—perhaps the only people in it who were true.

And so now the remainder of the clan is packing to go—across the continent and by steamer almost three weeks to Australia.

The old Piper, Fate, has been piping "Bundle and Go" to the Striblings for years. And some day, I know, he will pipe them into a haven they deserve.

ROY BARROW—A FRIEND IN NEED.

There was a broken-hearted Cuban boy, friendless and alone, left in Atlanta for some months after internal trouble in Cuba had separated him from his parents. He was in school at a Georgia prep school when the break came.

His great ambition was to run the 100 meters in the Olympic games. Coach W. A. Alexander, of Georgia Tech, tried to help him but there was no way to get the Cuban boy his trial.

Coach Alexander then supplied him with funds to enable him to eat on the way to Key West, Florida, and gave him money for his transportation to Havana. At Macao, Georgia, the boy, unable to speak much English, found Roy Barrow, well-known business man. Barrow has helped thousands of men who were down on their luck. He read Coach Alexander's letter which the boy carried. That was enough. Roy Barrow supplied him with room and food, gave him additional money and obtained a ride all the way into Key West. Which means that the boy will go back with two heroes—Coach Alexander and Roy Barrow. He's one who thinks America is a great land. "I want to come back some day. Play football. Run one hundred meters," he told me, in saying goodbye.

DUSTING 'EM OFF.

Cracker players charged last Saturday that the Lookout pitchers, during the series completed that day, had been dusting them off. And it seems very strange that baseball should still contain this among its souvenirs.

When Ray Chapman was dusted off so thoroughly in the season of 1920 that he died from the effects of it, there was a sort of gentleman's agreement that the pitchers would no longer throw at the heads of the batters. Carl Mays, the Yankee pitcher who hit Chapman, always insisted that the throw was accidental and it went at that. But the Indians never quite forgave Mays for it.

Later on that year the Cleveland Indians imported a pitcher from the coast who was known as Duster Mays, for obvious reasons. The same Duster is pitching for the Lookouts now, but his delivery is harmless and there have been no charges at all that he is living up to his baseball name.

There are very few managers, if any, who have not at one time or another had a pitcher dust off a few batters. And there are very few pitchers who will not, if the need arises, throw one at the head of the batter to make him loosen up a toe-hold or get him off balance. The batter who is up there to hit never feels quite as confident after he has been made to sprawl down into the dirt to escape a baseball, which is a death-dealing object under such conditions.

There used to be a manager in the Southern association who would growl, "Let's see how he looks in the dirt the next time he comes up," when some batter became cocky or what the manager thought officious. And the next time the pitcher would throw one at the batter's head and loosen him up.

It is impossible to detect a bean ball. The last pitcher accused of deliberately dusting off players claimed that he was trying to pitch "inside" and that his control was bad. It is impossible to prove the intent.

Baseball is a highly competitive game and there will always be players willing to do anything to advance their own cause. And so there will always be pitchers dusting them off at the plate.

The Lookout pitchers denied the Cracker charge and the denial must carry as much weight as the charge. But the fact remains that the bean ball is a part of baseball and someday there will be another player killed by it. And there seems nothing one can do about it.

BLOCKING THE PLATE.

The recent Cracker-lookout series was full of bitterness and charges of dirty work at the cross-roads.

The Lookouts charged that on Friday night pitcher Clyde Barfoot was tripped as he came into the plate. And they further charged that on Saturday afternoon, Manager Red Barron bumped Catcher Jilek at the plate.

Practically all catchers block the plate in an effort to keep runners from getting in there with their toes. The runner has a right to get in as best he can. And so if a catcher is bumped around a bit he should not be one to complain. The runner has a right to come on in there. He is entitled to a part of the plate. Catcher Jilek should expect to be cuffed around a bit.

Most players let them have the cold steel when they come in to the plate. That is one reason why catchers wear shin guards, that and foul tips which often strike in the tender region of the shin bone.

The player sliding can, if he wishes to, cut some peculiar designs in the meaty part of a rival player's legs and thighs. Now and then a player gives them the spikes as he goes in. Most of the good base stealers used to do that now and then.

REESE DOWNNER IN FIRST ROUND OF CITY TENNIS

Defending Champ Meets Howard Brown in Second Round Today.

By Roy White.

Five of the seeded players who survived the first round Saturday advanced to the third round in the annual Atlanta tennis championship tournament Monday afternoon at the Georgia Tech courts. Billy Reese, the defending champion, defeated Glenn Dudley, 6-1, 6-1, in a first-round match and will meet Howard Brown in a second-round match at 3:15 o'clock today. The winner will meet Mollie Williamson later in the afternoon.

All matches in the third round will start at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon with one exception and as many of the first round matches will be played as possible after completion of all singles.

Reese had little trouble in winning from Dudley and will arrive at two matches today without much difficulty. Jack Mooney had trouble in winning, 6-3, 6-3, from Lem Bracewell, a member of the University of Georgia tennis team and will meet Bud Lindsey, another member of the Bulldog team.

Malon Courts, Jack Simpson, Harry Gault, a former champion, and Jack Boykin, other seeded players, won out in straight sets Monday to advance to the third round.

GAULT WINS. Harry Gault had the hardest match of the seeded players, but finally beat Mack Jackson, a member of the Georgia Tech tennis team, 6-3, 7-5. Jackson rallied in the second set to give the former champion plenty of trouble, but began a lobbing near the end and lost on hard overhead drives from near the net.

Randolph West, another member of the Tech team, who eliminated Louis Enloe in a Saturday upset, defeated Ralph Aiken, 6-3, 6-1, in straight sets and ranks as the darkest horse of the tourney thus far.

Paul Metz and W. M. Brannon staged the feature rallies of the afternoon to advance to today's match. Metz was 2-5 on the first set and won out, 8-6 and 6-4, over C. M. Boyer, in a well-played match. Brannon was 2-5 in the deciding set against Turner Merritt, but staged a spectacular rally that won the set, 7-5, and the match, 6-1, 3-6, 7-5.

After losing the first set, 4-6, Mollie Williamson former Tech football lineman, rallied to take the final two sets, 6-0, 6-1, and will meet the winner of the Reese-Brown match today in the third round.

GRANT SPECTATOR. Bryan Grant, former southern doubles champion and father of "Bilky," was an interesting spectator at the Monday matches.

Monday's results:

FIRST ROUND. Billy Reese beat Glenn Dudley, 6-1, 6-1. W. M. Brannon won from Don Driver by default.

Britt Knox beat Pierre Howard, 6-4, 6-4. Bud Lindsey beat Frank Corrigan, 6-4, 6-2.

Jack Boykin won from A. E. Martin by default.

Marion Brittain beat Claude Reed, 6-4, 6-3, and Howard Brown beat Chris Capers, 6-2, 6-2.

SECOND ROUND. Jack Mooney beat Lem Bracewell, 6-3, 6-3. Bud Lindsey won from Preston Chambers by default.

Paul Metz beat C. M. Boyer, 8-6, 6-4. Randolph West beat Ralph Aiken, 6-3, 6-1.

Jack Boykin beat Z. A. Rice, 6-3, 6-2. George French beat Marion Brittain, 6-2, 6-0.

Tom Tumlin beat Gene Ray, 6-1, 6-3. Malon Courts beat Charles Rainey, 6-3, 6-0.

Mollie Williamson beat L. Beers, 6-0, 6-0.

Britt Knox beat Malcolm Keller, 6-4, 6-3. Gene Morgan beat Russell Hobbit, 6-0, 6-0.

Harry Gault beat Mack Jackson, 6-3, 7-5. Malcolm Menley beat W. S. Howland, 6-0, 6-0.

W. M. Brannon beat Turner Merritt, 6-1, 6-0.

Jack Simpson beat Carlton Collier, 6-1, 6-0.

TODAY'S FAIRINGS: Mooney vs. Lindsey. Metz vs. West. Boykin vs. Brannon. Tumlin vs. Courts. Rainey vs. Morgan. Williamson vs. winner Reese-Brown. Knox vs. Aiken. Gault vs. Manning. Brannon vs. Simpson.

Doubles Draw In City Tennis.

The draw for the doubles in the city tennis tourney is as follows:

Reese and Conner, bye. Merritt and Manley, bye. French and Turner, bye. Ray and Lindsey vs. Wyane and Gault. Maynard and West vs. Dudley and Williamson. Hopkins and Corrigan vs. Collier and Adams.

Adams and Williamson, bye. Reese and Chambers, bye. Lower Bracket. Mooney and Simpson, bye. Smith and Dennis, bye. French and Delmon, bye. Knox and Brannon, bye. French and Johnson vs. Brannon and Keller. Boyer and Wilson vs. Jennings and Crawford. Harris and partner, bye. Morgan and Metz, bye.

Quimet Is Blue; His Clubs Are Gone

BOSTON, July 18.—(AP)—The set of golf clubs that Francis Quimet spent 20 years collecting has disappeared.

They were removed from a bag rack at a local club while the national amateur champion was at dinner. He believes a week-end guest took them and he did not discover his mistake until he digs them out of his car next Saturday or Sunday.

Quimet has been experimenting with clubs since he started his tournament career in 1912, the year before he defeated Vardon and Ray for the national open title. Among the missing clubs with which he won the 1931 national open amateur championship and the recent Massachusetts open play, is his pet putter.

Francis needs the clubs to polish his game for the coming national amateur and Walker cup matches.

Bridgeport Players Sent to Piedmont

CHICAGO, Ill., July 18.—(AP)—Manager Bill Terry, of the New York Giants, today announced the players of the Bridgeport club, considered worth retaining, would be transferred to the Giants' farm at Winston-Salem, N. C., in the Piedmont league. The Bridgeport club, a member of the Eastern league, which disbanded yesterday, was owned by the Giants.

DON SMASHES BOAT RECORD

Britisher Drives Miss England III at 119 Miles Per Hour.

LUSS, LOCH LOMOND, Scotland, July 18.—(AP)—Kaye Don today drove his new Miss England III over the waters of storied Loch Lomond at the record speed of 119.1 miles an hour to return again to Great Britain the world speed standards for land, sea and air.

Twice he drove his powerful boat over the measured mile course, breaking the world mark on both occasions. On the first try, made just at dawn, he averaged 117.43 miles per hour. Not satisfied with that he made another run in mid-morning to hang up his new average and for the first time in the history of man travel at faster than two miles a minute over water. On his second trial he attained a speed of 120.5 miles per hour on the run with the wind.

The boat was altered on Don's orders after her poor trials at Loch Lomond, Italy, to make her faster and her performance pleased the Englishman immensely. He had complained that the designers of the hull had been thinking too much of his safety and too little of speed when they first built the boat.

"I'm not worrying about myself," he said then, "what I want is the world record back."

The world automobile record is held by Colonel Sir Malcolm Campbell and is 233.968. The air record is 402.8 and was set this year by Flight Lieutenant G. H. Stainforth.

Don's mark broke the old record of Gar Wood, 111.726 by more than eight miles an hour and, experts said, put beyond reach for some time, the advantage of 21.4 pounds now experimenting with a new Miss American in the hope of defeating Don in the Harnsworth trophy race at Detroit this fall and then regaining the world mark.

The boat was taken out of the water to be dismantled, overhauled and prepared for shipment to Detroit three weeks hence.

TONY CANZONERI LOSES TITLE BOUT

PHILADELPHIA, July 18.—(AP)—Johnny Jadick, of Philadelphia, retained his world's junior welterweight crown tonight by winning a 10-round decision over Tony Canzoneri, lightweight world champion, in a slugfest at the Phillies ball park. The crowd booed the decision and threw cushions into the ring.

Canzoneri, whose lightweight title was not at stake, made a strong bid to regain the junior welter crown, which he lost to Jadick six months ago, but a stinging left jab continually thwarted him.

Tony did plenty of stiff punching, however, and several times Jadick was staggered with right-hand punches to the jaw and body. Canzoneri was fighting at a weight advantage of 21.4 pounds, scaling 135 to Jadick's 125.14.

Fighting a defensive battle throughout, Jadick worked with a paper-like left to perfection, hitting Canzoneri's rushes with damaging jolts. Several times, however, the challenger got inside that left and roused the Philadelphia with blows that drew blood from the latter's nose. At least four times during the mill Tony landed stiff right-handers to Jadick's jaw.

PUBLIC GOLFERS TEE OFF TODAY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 18.—(UP)—Two hundred and ten amateurs will tee off tomorrow over the Shawnee Club course in the eleventh annual national amateur public links golf tournament.

The visiting players arrived today, and most of them sounded out the course. Charles Terrell, San Francisco steel worker and defending champion, spent hours in practice. He said the course was "plenty tough."

None of the title favorites have been able to break Bill Heinlein's course record of 67, established recently, but Pete Miller of Chicago, ranked second in the world yesterday, Heinlein is the Indiana state champion, and captain of the Indianapolis team.

Par for the course is 72.

Douglasville Wins Over Clark Team

AUSTELL, Ga., July 17.—Douglasville, one of the strongest amateur teams in the state, won from the Clark Thread Mill team here this afternoon by a score of 5 to 0.

Parish and Smith were the Clark batterers, while Gile and Wilby were working for Douglasville. The game was well played by both teams.

Martin Forgives Barron, Dashiell

President John D. Martin, of the Southern Association, reported to The Constitution last night that he would not suspend either Manager Red Barron, or the Cracker, or Wally Dashiell, in-fighter for the Chattanooga club, for their fighting in last Saturday's game in Atlanta. Both players were fined $10. President Martin intimated that had it not been for the difficulties already besetting the clubs he would have suspended both players.

Bridgeport Players Sent to Piedmont

CHICAGO, Ill., July 18.—(AP)—Manager Bill Terry, of the New York Giants, today announced the players of the Bridgeport club, considered worth retaining, would be transferred to the Giants' farm at Winston-Salem, N. C., in the Piedmont league. The Bridgeport club, a member of the Eastern league, which disbanded yesterday, was owned by the Giants.

Atlantan and the Champion

Miss Louise Robert, left, of Atlanta, is shown above with Miss Eleanor Holm, champion backstroke swimmer at 100 meters. The picture was taken on Long Island Saturday after Miss Robert had won a place on the Olympic team by finishing third in the 100-meter event. She swam a heat in the morning in better time than Miss Holm's effort. The teams are now on the way to the coast. The Atlanta girl is favored to win points. Associated Press photo.

'Wish You Were Here' Postcards Coach Alex

Stops in Chicago En Route to Olympic Games; Mehre Buys His Ticket; Thomas Debates.

By Ralph McGill.

There are quite a lot of local angles to the Olympic games. Here comes a card from Mr. William A. Alexander, of Georgia Tech, who is on his way to the coast to see the Olympics and perform in a movie, "The All-American."

"Having a great time, wish you were here," writes Mr. Alexander from Chicago.

And on the street Monday afternoon there was Mr. Harry Mehre, of Georgia, who was walking that very minute to the ticket office to get his yard and a half of ticket to California and the Olympic games. Frank Thomas, of Alabama, was walking with him, debating with his "ruthers." He would rather go to the Olympic games than anything else. (Except when the conference football championship next fall so that he can come to the basketball tournament and sit around and answer questions and grin at the other boys.) But he isn't sure as yet.

That stadium where the track and field events will be held in the field where Georgia and Tulane lost to Southern California last winter. It seats 110,000 people which means that the Tech stadium, the Georgia stadium, the Vanderbilt stadium, the North Carolina stadium and the Tennessee stadium would all have to be straightened out and lined up in the south to provide the same seating capacity. Just to give you the idea.

Harry Mehre probably wants to take that train ride through New Orleans, Texas, most of the west and finally go sliding down the Imperial valley without that long, lost feeling that he had last fall.

He was going west with a football team which had got through with being excited about football a couple of weeks before. Harry Mehre had a suspicion that his team of seniors was all burned out with football and that their flare in the Tech game was just a flake of enthusiasm. He had played so much football, about the best that any southern team had ever played, to win from Yale, New York University and strong southern teams. It had played so much football it was all through.

It was a painfully cold day in the big Olympic stadium that day and the Georgia team was shattered by the great Southern California eleven that was later to beat Tulane.

And so I think Harry Mehre wants to go back to the big stadium and sit there without seeing Gail Shaver and Ernie Pinker rushing toward the goal. And I wish I could do the same.

One of the local angles continues to be embarrassing to some of the boys. Some of the writing boys emerged with the statement that Miss Louise Robert, who won a place on the swimming team, was the first native Atlantan to become an Olympic athlete.

No sooner had this been done than it was recalled that William Healey had been a member of the 1928 Olympic team. He was a javelin thrower. He did not, however, compete, being unable to attend the games.

And now comes the painful recollection that Dave Young, of Atlanta and Rome, was a member of the 1928 swimming team. But Rome claims him and so Miss Robert may yet become the only native Atlantan to compete in the Olympic games. But by no means the last.

Legion Team Plays Young Men's Team

A real grudge battle between the East Point American Legion baseball team and the Young Men's team will be fought out on Wednesday at the Egan Park diamond.

Last week the Young Men's team won from the Legion 4 to 3 in 14 innings. It was a real ball game with few errors and lots of sparkling play. No admission will be charged and all fans are invited.

Amateur Tourney On Rialto Screen

Motion pictures of the Georgia State amateur golf championship played last week over the beautiful Capital City country club course will be shown at the Rialto theater all this week in addition to the regular program. "Hollywood Speaks" starring Genevieve Tobin is the feature picture.

FREIGAU DROWNS IN CHATTAHOOGA

Knoxville Player Strikes Head in Early Morning Swim.

CHATTAHOOGA, Tenn., July 18.—(AP)—Diving from a 20-foot tower during an early morning swim at the Chattanooga Golf and Country Club, Howard Freigau, third baseman and outfielder of the Knoxville Smokies, struck the bottom of the pool with his head and drowned before he could be brought to the surface.

At the invitation of R. H. Griffith, a resident at the club, Freigau went to the pool after complaining of the intense heat. Griffith obtained bathing suits from his room and the two men entered the water about 1:30 a. m.

Three other residents at the club, sleeping on a porch, were awakened a short time later by calls for help. Rushing to the pool, they learned that Freigau had dived from the high board and failed to come to the surface. An ambulance was called and Freigau was brought out of the water and taken to the city, where Dr. H. Quigg Fletcher, local club physician, pronounced him dead.

Freigau was about 28 years old. His widow came here today from Knoxville and made arrangements for sending the body to his home at Dayton, Ohio. They have no children.

Freigau was one of the mainstays of the Smokies. At the time of his death he was batting better than .350. He usually played third base but recently had been shifted to left field. He was the last member of the old Mobile club whose franchise was taken over last year by Knoxville, remaining with the Smokies.

Before coming to the Southern association, Freigau played with Brooklyn, St. Louis and Chicago in the National league; Toledo and Kansas City in the American association, and Buffalo in the International league.

Manager Bernie Neis, of the Smokies, said Freigau's death was a hard blow to the Knoxville club. "The loss of such a dependable player," Neis said, "will be a great setback to a great extent." Neis has not decided who will be secured to take Freigau's place on the squad.

The Knoxville club is here engaging in a series with Chattanooga.

KID BERG BEATS KEED CHOCOLATE

By Edward J. Neil.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN BOWL, New York, July 18.—(AP)—Jackie "Kid" Berg, tireless British lightweight, fought his way back into the center of the fight stage tonight by pouncing on a Cuban negro before an enthralled crowd of 20,000.

Battered down by Tony Canzoneri, beaten by Sammy Fuller, and almost battered out of shape by Billy Petrolle, the courageous little Englishman struggled back among the top-notchers of his class with an endless forward charge that overshadowed in the eyes of one judge, and Referee Johnny McAvoy, the sharper punching of the slender negro they call the Cuban.

For the first five rounds the sleek little negro, a grand boxer, met Berg's charges with two-fisted thrusts that threatened to cause the little Englishman to wobble in the ring. He whaled Berg's head with rights, cutting both his eyebrows, and he leathered his body with punches that left Berg gasping for breath, and hurt.

Gradually Berg found his way to close quarters, and he poured his incessant fire into Chocolate's ribs, some of the flash died out of the Cuban. He fought in spurts from then on, while Billy Lynch, referee, tried to slow him down permanently. The end of it was Chocolate who was desperately striving to keep up with the stream of leather the black-throated Briton hurled at him. Time and again, Chocolate tried to drive Berg away from him with a blistering head attack that rocked the Englishman, but never quite enough to slow him down permanently. In the thirteenth round, particularly, Chocolate flared up with a withering fire that rocked Berg's head, sent him staggering to one side of the ring to the other, and left him ready for the one finishing blow the Cuban could not muster.

As it was a vast majority of the ringside critics thought that Chocolate had reversed the decision Berg scored over him in 12 rounds in their first two years ago. The crowd booed the decision heartily.

Referee Johnny McAvoy and Judge Harold Barnes cast their votes for Berg, while Billy Lynch voted for Chocolate. The Associated Press scoreboard gave Chocolate a margin of one round, with a score of seven for the Cuban, six for Berg and two even.

Clark Is Kayoed By Willie Bush

Willie Bush, of Miami, Fla., outclassing his opponent at every point, Monday night knocked out Speedy Clark, of Atlanta, in the second round of the main bout at Roby's arena.

Bush will be matched by Roby next Monday night against Bearcat Obie at the city.

In the semi-windup Clint Towns beat Mickey Kendrick, winning a decision in an eight-round fight. Willie McGee knocked out Speedy Freeman in the second round, Battling P. G. kayoed Bobby Roscoe in the first round of their bout.

BIG SLUGGER RECEIVES HURT FIELDING BALL

Falls Headlong and Is Carried Off Field at New York.

NEW YORK, July 18.—(AP)—A leg injury today forced Babe Ruth to leave the Yankee-White Sox game on vacation that is expected to extend three weeks before the "Mighty Man of Swat" is able to again take his place in right field.

Ruth was injured when he attempted to field a short fly from the bat of Carey Selph in the seventh inning. As his leg gave way, Ruth fell headlong to the ground and had to be helped to the dressing room, where an examination disclosed a torn ligament in the right leg just above the knee.

An attending physician said Ruth should be able to walk in a few days but the Yankees' trainer, Earl Painter, said the Babe would not play ball again for three weeks.

The enforced absence of Ruth is the second misfortune that has hit the Yanks in the last few weeks, the other being the 30-day suspension of Bill Dickey, star catcher.

Aimee Semple Hutton In Critical Condition

LAKE ELSINORE, Cal., July 18.—(AP)—Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton, evangelist, was reported by her physician tonight to be in such critical condition that "the slightest shock probably will result in her death."

"Her condition is extremely critical," Dr. Edward H. Williams, the physician said. "She absolutely must not be disturbed if she is to recover. I have instructed her attendants to see that no one, even her husband, must attempt to see her."

The physician's report tonight said the evangelist's condition was "unchanged."

Mrs. Hutton is suffering, her doctor said, from a basal fracture of the skull.

Mrs. Hutton had been recovering from a nervous breakdown and a tropical ailment when she injured her head in a fall to the floor.

John Curtis Is Freed Under $10,000 Bond

FLEMINGTON, N. J., July 18.—(AP)—John Curtis, who recently was sentenced to a year in jail and fined $1,000 in connection with the Lindbergh kidnap case, today was released in $10,000 bond. His bond was furnished by the Concord Casualty and Surety Company of New York. Curtis left Flemington at 3:40 p. m. The amount of bail was fixed at a hearing before Judge O. O. Robbins, trial judge in the Curtis case. The hearing was attended by Secretary William E. Wean and County Clerk C. Lloyd Fife were present. The bond cost $600.

Dr. Knapp Resigns As Auburn President

AUBURN, Ala., July 18.—(AP)—Dr. Bradford Knapp resigned today as president of Alabama Polytechnic Institute to accept the presidency of Texas Technological College at Lubbock, Texas.

Dr. Knapp's resignation is effective September 1.

Dr. Knapp's acceptance of the Texas post was sent to officials of that college at the same time today as announcement of his resignation of Alabama Poly was made public.

Planes Fail To Find Missing Air Liner

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 18.—(AP)—Twelve searching planes braved violent snowstorms in the Andes today to hunt for a missing Trans-Andean air liner and her nine occupants, but returned to airports tonight with nothing to report.

The liner disappeared Saturday just after crossing the Chacabuco pass high in the Andes, en route from Santiago to Buenos Aires.

De Valera Proclaims 'No Surrender' Policy

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, July 18.—(AP)—There will be "no surrender" to Great Britain in the conflict over Irish land annuities, President Eamon De Valera told the Free State senate today.

"FORESEEN" DEATH OF STOREKEEPER RESULTS IN PROBE

CHICAGO, July 18.—(AP)—Police shuffled through a slim deck of clues today in their investigation of the slaying of George Carl, storekeeper, 60, who was shot dead, 60 hours in advance by "cards of death" she drew from a neighborhood fortune teller's hands.

They held for questioning Ivan Grille, 38, a brother-in-law of the dead man, who they said they had learned, sold Mrs. Vera Carl, the widow, a $5,000 insurance policy with double indemnity clause in which she was named beneficiary. Grille, however, denied having any insurance dealings with Carl.

Mrs. Carl told police she and her mother had warned Carl that on Thursday she turned up three cards which predicted his death at the home of Mrs. Susie Ballo, who has a neighborhood reputation as a soothsayer. He laughed at their forebodings, she said. Mrs. Ballo corroborated their statements as to the "fatal" deal.

IRISH ECONOMIC BODY ARRIVES AT OTTAWA

OTTAWA, Ontario, July 18.—(AP)—The first of the national delegations to the imperial economic conference, the Irish Free State group, arrived here Sunday.

Their course of action beclouded in view of the breakdown of economic negotiations between Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and President Eamon de Valera, the Free Staters nevertheless have the declared purpose of making efforts to conclude arrangements for reciprocal trade with the other dominions.

This was emphasized by Sean T. O'Kelly, head of the delegation.

Join Songame Players Now; Back Pictures Can Be Had

Newcomers Can Share Forty Prizes Totaling $1,800; Interesting List of Songs Available.

BY THE SONGAME EDITOR.

The hands of the clock have, figuratively, revolved backward at dizzy speed, reversing the calendar as they went, so that today is, so to speak, the original starting date of the tangle Songame. The first 15 pictures of the series have been reprinted and may be had free by calling at The Constitution, or a 2-cent stamp will bring them quickly by mail. Pictures from No. 16 up till now may be had for the same price as the individual copies of The Constitution in which they originally appeared. Newcomers may be on the same footing with those who began on Sunday, June 26. In other words, this entertaining feature is beginning all over again so that all may catch up who could use the first prize of $1,000, or one of the other rich awards.

The total prize money of $1,800 is to be given out to readers who match the most familiar song titles with the pictures gotten up by the artist. Each picture, of course, represents some well known melody. No subscriptions are to be solicited, and there are no bothersome conditions.

If your attention has just been called to the song game, obtain the back pictures now and set out for one of the liberal prizes.

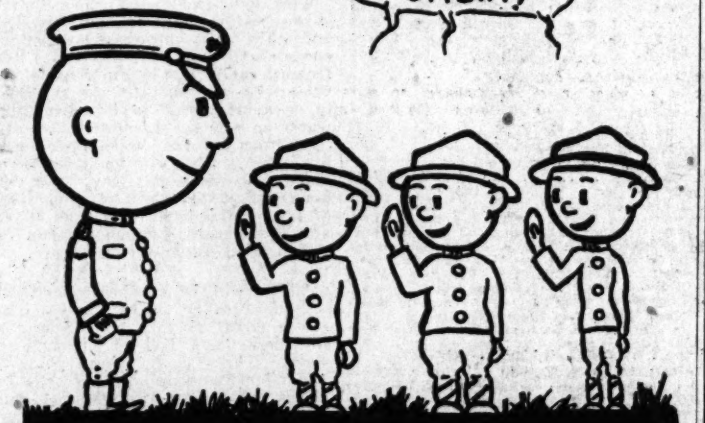

Songame followers who have obtained a copy of the free and valuable list of thousands of favorite melodies have expressed themselves as delighted with this interesting publication, which can be had by a personal call at The Constitution, by mail for a 2-cent stamp, or at any of these neighborhood drug stores:

Don't let this picture "stump" you. If you can't remember the title that fits it, call or send for the free song list now.

INSTRUCTIONS:
$1,800 in cash will be awarded Songame followers who find the most correct song title answers for the 80 pictures, which will be published serially in The Constitution. The first prize is $1,000; the second, $400; the third, $100; the fourth, $50; and the fifth, $25. There are ten prizes of $10 each, and twenty-five prizes of $5 each.

There is no red tape. It is not necessary to get subscriptions in order to qualify for any of the prizes, nor is it necessary to register. Non-subscribers have the same opportunity to win one of the forty prizes as subscribers. There will be no tie-breaking series of pictures to solve, or extra work of any kind to do. The correct answers are what count.

The Songame pictures and answers are not to be submitted until all of the pictures have been published. Then they are to be brought or sent in at one time, as a set.

SENATE FAILS TO ACT ON PURVIS AND CROSS

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—President Hoover was today notified by the secretary of the senate, Edwin Pope Thayer, that congress adjourned late Saturday night without the upper chamber taking action on the nominations of Samuel Purvis as marshal of the middle district of Georgia, and Louis P. Cross as postmaster at Clayton, Ga.

In view of the non-action of the senate the president can authorize recess appointments of both Purvis and Cross or he can decline to re-nominate and make two new appointments.

When the nomination of Mr. Purvis was submitted to the senate judiciary committee for investigation no serious effort was made by either the appointee or his Washington counsel to press for an early hearing before a subcommittee composed of Senators Stephens, Mississippi, chairman; Hastings, Delaware, and Hebert, Rhode Island, Senator Stephens' office said that the probability was that Purvis would not be re-named.

Mrs. Bierce died at her home, 3014 Tampa street, almost exactly three days following the demise of her husband. Surviving Mrs. Bierce are three sons, Harry and Ralph Bierce, of Tampa and Edward S. Bierce, living in Cleveland, Ohio.

FLORIDANS TO BOAST CROSS-STATE CANAL

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 18.—(AP)—Headed by General Charles F. Sumner, a delegation left here tonight for Washington to sponsor a move to obtain $175,000,000 for a ship canal across Florida.

The delegation represents the Gulf-Atlantic Ship Canal Association and consists, in addition to General Sumner, as president, H. H. Buckman, secretary, and Walter Couchman Jr. and Sumpter Lowry Jr.

BALTIMORE DOCK FIRE BRINGS INJURY TO 8

BALTIMORE, July 18.—(AP)—Three Pennsylvania railroad piers smoldered and burst into flames in spots today as firemen continued their work of hours to gain control of one of Baltimore's biggest and most spectacular waterfront fires of recent years.

Seven firemen and one volunteer fireman were injured while about 25 other firemen were affected by smoke, requiring ambulance treatment.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

BY ELY CULBERTSON.

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

A Disappointing Psychic

Psychic opening bids—that is, bids passed on hands containing little or no honor strength, even although they do have distributional values—are two-edged swords. They are much more likely to result in disaster for their user than for the opponents, because if partner's hand is not of such a type that he can easily spot the bluff nature of the opening bid, he is quite likely to eventually double an adverse contract which may easily be made.

Recently, in a Duplicate game at a New York bridge club, the following hand was dealt:

West—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

AK45
QK654
QK910
J10865
S
AK
J9643

At one table, where Mr. Samuel Fry, Jr. was sitting South, the bidding went as follows:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

West	North	East	South
1A(1)	2A(2)	Pass	3D(3)
Pass	4D(4)	Pass	5D(5)
Pass	Pass	Dbl.(6)	Pass
Pass	Redbl.(7)	Pass	Pass

1—West, with a trickless hand, but with possibilities of considerable offensive power in his freak holding, hopes to possibly prevent the bidding of a game and almost certainly the bidding of a slam by the deceptive opening bid.

2—North is undisturbed. Holding 5 honor-tricks, he correctly makes an immediate Overcall in the opponents' bid suit, and thus requires that the bidding be kept open until North and South reach a game contract.

3—Of course, the only response, 4—North need not hurry. Possibly

Bonus Army's Ranks Break As Veterans Turn Homeward

WASHINGTON, July 18.—(AP)—A long line of homesick and discouraged bonus seekers, disregarding the stern disapproval of their leaders, shuffled steadily through the veterans administration offices today securing transportation home.

Emergency office space was set up in the corridors to handle as many applications as possible. As each man drew his ticket he was taken to the rear of the building and given, free of cost, a square meal before his departure.

There was mild excitement at police court, some distance from the veterans administration, when two men were arrested for attempting to organize a protest against the trial of four of their comrades arrested for trying to picket the White House Saturday night.

Those arrested were Alfred Hales, Detroit, and John Fabroschski, of Pittsburgh. They had been previously held in clear the courtroom of veterans who congregated to hear the trials. Two of the defendants were found guilty of disorderly conduct and a third of parading without a permit. They were fined amounts ranging from $5 to $30.

Another defendant, Urban Ledoux, New York, was fined $40. A woman, "Mr. Zero," was fined $40. A woman paid his fine.

In the meantime the ranks of the dwindling bonus army have split into three antagonistic factions.

John Pace, leader of the left wing group, was ordered from a meeting called by Roy W. Robertson, commander of the California contingent, which marched for four days and nights in front of the capitol. Pace was told that he was "undesirable and looking for trouble," and that the Robertsons would have nothing to do with him.

Robertson then proceeded to organize his division into "the death march army" and elect per cent officials.

Holding aloof from this organization was a third—the biggest—the bonus expeditionary force, commanded by W. W. Waters. The California force refused to join with Waters' men when it arrived a week ago, and since then has claimed the allegiance of many of those who previously took orders from Waters.

Reports circulated in all the camps today that Waters was to be charged with mishandling the funds of the B. E. F. were greeted with laughter at Waters' headquarters.

"What funds?" one of his assistants asked.

Until the opening of the veterans administration today a total of 2,119 bonus seekers had requested railroad fare home. Officials were too busy today granting more requests to count those applying, but estimated that the number might be doubled.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 18.—(AP)—The North Carolina department of the American Legion today went on record as favoring immediate cash payment of veterans' adjusted compensation certificates, at its annual convention here today.

Maniu Gains Power At Rumanian Polls

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 18.—(AP)—King Carol's arch-enemy, his close friend both were pushed out of the parliamentary picture in Sunday's general elections on the basis of the latest semi-official returns to-night.

The power went instead to former Premier Iuliu Maniu and his national peasant party, which won 300 of the 380 seats in parliament.

The nationalists of Nicholas Jorga, long a friend of the king and recent premier, will be unrepresented. Likewise, General Alexandru Averescu, severe critic of Carol, and his people's party will be out.

U. S. COMMISSIONER REFUSES TO ISSUE DRY RAID WARRANT

RICHMOND, Va., July 18.—(AP)—Federal officers arriving here today with three men arrested during a raid in New Kent county on one of the largest stills captured in this vicinity in recent months, refused themselves in a quandary when United States Commissioner Melvin Fleghelheimer declined to issue warrants for the men.

The commissioner said he was obeying an order issued by Judge Luther B. Way, of the United States district court for the eastern district of Virginia, directing that before any commissioner under jurisdiction of the court issue a criminal warrant for the arrest of any person, on any search warrant, the application must first be approved by the district attorney or one of his assistants.

The officers solved their immediate problem by lodging their prisoners in Henrico county jail on charges of being fugitives from justice from the United States government, accused of a felony.

LABOR HEAD ASSAULTS RELIEF LEGISLATION

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 18.—(UP)—The United States faces a "menacing situation" because congress "failed miserably" in enacting unemployment relief measures, President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, declared in commenting on legislation passed by congress before adjournment Saturday night.

Green listed these reasons for his criticism:

"Because no action was taken on modification of the Volstead act."

"Because nothing was done for farm relief."

"Because there was no provision by which the Reconstruction Finance Corporation can loan to municipalities for the relief of a shortage of educational funds."

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield:

I have a young daughter of 17 that is hard to control, impatient, and defiant. If I tell her to wear a certain dress it is a signal for a fight. If I suggest that she should go to see a certain friend she goes in the opposite direction. She is very thin and consequently I am forever trying to make her eat fattening foods which makes her a sulky table companion. What shall I do about her?

MRS. H.

Answer:
I don't blame the daughter. Why should you tell her what dress to wear? If she hasn't enough discretion to choose her costume at 17 she never will have. If she hasn't any liberty in the matter of choosing and cultivating her friends she will end by having none. And if you continue to do her about what and when she eats she will never gain any flesh. You are making a terrible blunder in trying to impose your will upon a 17-year-old girl. She will come to hate you and herself, if you don't call a halt. No doubt you are prompted by love for her, but you are motivated by an iron-willed determination to have your own way. She, being your child, has inherited something of the same indomitable will. It is black-gum against thunder.

The only thing that will save you to each other is an immediate relinquishment of your petitory authority over her and a cheerful acceptance of her right to have her own way in matters so small and insignificant as a costume or a call. When it comes to her that you have resorted to different tactics she will become amenable to reason. Her impertinence is only a protest against what she feels is an injustice, and her defiance is a declaration of independence of what she considers unreasonable rule.

How few parents know when to relinquish their grip on their children! Even the birds are wiser.
CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Dear Miss Chatfield:

I am a bride of a few months and am dead in love with my husband, but since the day we moved into our new home my mother-in-law has been rocking in my best chair and giving orders from that vantage point about everything that comes under her observation. I have hesitated to speak about it. I haven't said a word to my husband. But I feel my ire rising and I can't hold in much longer. I was a business woman and accustomed to running my own affairs. I made a point with my husband about living to ourselves. We have the separate house all right but we don't live to ourselves. What do you think would be the most tactful way to deal with this matter? I want to be kind but I also want to be firm. You know once you are independent you can't take orders from anybody, much less from a mother-in-law.

ESTHER L. P.

Answer:
Why will a woman be such a fool as your mother-in-law seems to be? She has deliberately left her peaceful abode where she has authority undisputed and is sitting on a hornet's nest where she will get stung and probably remain sore to the end of her days as a result. Nobody can blame you for assuming an interloper, even if she is your

Officer Says Puryear Carried 'Bloody Ax'

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 18.—(AP)—A patrolman testified today that he saw Stanley O. Puryear, middle-aged garage operator who carried a "bloody ax" in his hands when he entered the Puryear home May 2, to investigate the slayings of Puryear's wife and 8-year-old daughter.

Patrolman W. M. Davis testified at a hearing on Puryear's application that he be allowed to make bond to secure his release from the county jail where he has been held since the discovery of the slayings.

Puryear is under indictment on a charge of murdering Mrs. Puryear and her daughter. Aurelia as they slept in the Puryear home, and for the murder of a negro Puryear said committed the murders before his death. The negro said he was lured to the Puryear home and shot by Puryear upon his arrival there. He said he knew nothing of the slayings inside the house.

Attorneys for the defendant are asking his release in a habeas corpus hearing before Judge R. B. Pittman. They charge that continued incarceration will seriously endanger his health.

Hoover Extends Stay At Camp on Rapidan

LURAY, Va., July 18.—(AP)—Changing his plans, President Hoover remained tonight at his Rapidan camp in the Blue Ridge mountains, instead of motoring back to the White House.

A combination of cloudless skies, warm sun and a cool breeze in the mountains caused him to alter the schedule. He will return to Washington early tomorrow morning, arising shortly after daybreak.

Today was the first 24 hours of complete rest the president has enjoyed in many months.

BABES ON BROADWAY
by JANE DIXON

SYNOPSIS.
Tony Brooks was 18 when her father and mother were killed in an automobile accident at Centerville, her home town. She had intended to study art but her capital had dwindled to $12 before she got a job for Madame Simon's dress shop in New York. Her frankness in telling women what she does, and her art gallery, led her to meet a man named Tony. He was a kindly looking man between 30 and 40. Tom Stewart, a young engineer in love with Lee, missed her at Mrs. Higgins' Tony fell in love with him at once and tried to bring himself to tell Lee. Lee had insisted that Tony go out for an evening with Leonard and an out-of-town friend, Donald Kemp. As they were leaving a night club, Leonard's wife saw that she was going to see the correspondent and expected to receive $5,000. She moved to an apartment. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

The idea were in my mind, complete, crowding to express itself without any help from me at all. I've done some pretty good things. Would you like to see them?"

Immensely, if you will explain them to me. And now for the news. A client of mine is in the dress business. I understand he turns out only the finest. He must, to get the prices down. He employs a studio full of artists and designers. Some of them are of established reputation in their lines, the cream of the crop. Occasionally he likes to develop one of his own. That freshens up the crop. I've spoken to him of you. He is willing to give you a trial.

Wings of ambition. They had ceased drumming. They had deposited Tony on a cloud, a rosy floating cloud. To work at the thing she liked most, hours and hours, to a real end, glorious!

"Oh, if only I could—but you see—I've never had any actual training, the technique, I mean. I've just gone on, visualizing, without knowing whether I was right or wrong. I've planned to go to the Art League for a course, to get a proper framework. It just hasn't been possible."

"My client suggests," Donald Kemp said, "that you come to the studio where you can fill in colors and work out details for first line designers. In this way you can observe their work, study their methods, and absorb valuable atmosphere. He will arrange for you to join some night classes at the Art League."

In a studio. Where designs were actually drawn. Where artists created them. While Tony herself was being made into an artist, studying, moulding, Donald Kemp was making it possible for her wish to come true. A stranger. Oh, the world was a gorgeous big rosy cloud that whisked Tony into the sky of dream come true. Whisked them if they could afford to ride. How could she afford the ride? She must live. Eat, sleep, walk to work in $30 a week. Would that see you through?"

Fifty dollars a week! But that was more than twice the amount she was paid at the moment. Fifty dollars a week was riches. She couldn't possibly earn so much money. There must be something wrong. Donald Kemp had said she was to come true. He had said that white smile of his, watching the light of hope flicker and dawn and flicker again in her wide eyes. Why did he look at her like that, watchful, mischievous, wary? Wary and covetous. He wanted something from her. He wanted her. The rose cloud was tumbling, swirling, plunging into blackness.

"I couldn't possibly accept such a wage," she said. Her lips were stiff. "It is out of all proportion to what I could earn." This was how her mother, Adam Leonard, Donald Kemp, helped girls who were alone, struggling for a place in the city. Ignorably. Cats help mice? Spiders help flies? Wealth help poverty? Men help women? Kemp's face was a mask. He said:

"I should say my client would be the best judge of that."

How cleverly Kemp turned Tony's unworthy suspicion back upon herself! He made her seem impractical, murky. Had she been mistaken about that lambent flame behind the drawn curtains of his eyes? Had Lee's affair with Adam Leonard distorted her vision? Donald Kemp had never even tried to hold her hand.

"Of course," Kemp went on, "my dress-making business is no philanthropic. He will be glad to agreeable to paying you $25 a week, or nothing at all if you prefer."

Tony was a little angry. She said: "said."

"I've explained about being without money. Twenty-five dollars would be very generous. I'll try to earn it." They were late for the theater. The first act was peaking toward its close when they took their seats on the aisle. No, she wouldn't stop for a bite of supper after the show. It would be too bad to invite an anti-climax to Leon's delectables. Kemp's goodnight was as it should be, just the right shade of lingering and of regret. Yet he managed to convey to her that she had been guilty of a gaudy night he was generous enough to condone.

Lee's bijou apartment—two rooms and bath—overlooking the park was a veritable little hothouse of modernity.

"What sold me on it was the prettiest it-aint-here bed in the living room," she told Tony. "When you get through with that honest working girl stuff that modest, retiring couch will fit you exactly. Don't say a word. I'm just as you are. And don't forget, I work. This job Uncle Lenny fixed for me is regular even if there isn't much to do except decorate it. Tell me, my dear, how's the budding artist? Arting?"

"I'm working at it. Tony tried out a black velvet and chromium chair. Nice to sink into softness. But is day labor. I do a night shift too at the League."

"Double time and nothing off for good behavior?"

"It's wonderful! I have to pinch myself to convince me. I'm really there, in the studio. Yesterday I did a sketch. I'm just as you are. And he's the big boss, isn't he?"

"So big!" Tony laughed. "He thought they might use it."

"The sketch."

"For how much?"

GEORGE WEST IS URGED FOR LOAN BANK BOARD

Name of Prominent Atlantan Put Forward in Petition Sent Hoover.

Appointment of George West as a member of the directing board of the new federal home loan banks authorized Saturday by congress was urged on President Hoover Monday in a petition of leading Georgia bankers and home loan executives forwarded by Horace Russell, chairman of the Georgia Building and Loan League and member of the executive committee of the national league. Mr. Russell said that it is hoped to obtain for Atlanta one of the eight federal home loan banks.

At the same time it was announced by Secretary of State John B. Wilson that 42 local mutual building and loan associations in Georgia have made semi-annual dividend payments amounting to approximately $250,000 to more than 15,000 shareholders since July 1, the largest total of dividend payments for any one dividend period in the history of the building and loan movement in Georgia.

Georgia probably will receive only $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 of the $250,000,000 authorized capitalization of the federal home loan banks, because of the small home loan assets in this state, Mr. Russell said. Total assets of the 42 Georgia institutions are now more than $7,000,000, nearly $2,000,000 more than in 1929. Not one of the 42 associations in this state has sustained the loss of a single dollar of its shareholders' savings during the depression, and shares of the associated banks are worth as much today as during the inflation period which ended in the 1929 stock market crash, Secretary of State Wilson said.
